Thurmond Conducts 1-Man Filibuster On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) dropped past 13 hours today a one-man filibuster against the compromise civil rights bill. He halted it at 10:54 a.m. and kept on in the face of word from the GOP leader, Sen. Knowland of California, that it was all futile.

Knowland, looking fresh in contrast to the obvious wear on Thurmond, appeared in the chamber at 6:30 a.m. to tell the South Carolinian he couldn't win, that there will be no adjournment of Congress until there is civil rights action, and that Thurmond was inviting rules changes making it easier to break up long talk.

Then, after the brief interruption, Knowland went to the White House, for breakfast with President Eisenhower while Thurmond kept going.

After the White House session Knowland said he had told Eisenhower Congress still might be able to adjourn tonight despite Thurmond. Knowland said his report was the first word Eisenhower had received that the Senate had been going all night.

The Republican leader said there were indications Thurmond's operation was "a purely isolated and solo filibuster."

It was the first time the Senate had stayed in round-the-clock session since 1953. The day's regular sitting started at 10 a.m. so that a 24-hour run was guaranteed when Thurmond went past that time and into his 14th hour.

Leader Orders All-Out Drive Against Labor Day Accidents

Governor George M. Leader, in an all-out enforcement effort to make this the "safest Labor Day holiday in Pennsylvania's history," today directed State Police Commissioner Earl J. Henry to use State Police in plain clothes and unmarked cars to work in conjunction with regularly assigned patrols during the long week-end of travel.

"We must not have another holiday traffic toll such as the one Pennsylvania compiled during the Fourth of July holiday," Governor Leader said. "Whether a State Policeman is in uniform or not, no motorist has anything to fear as long as he operates his vehicle in strict conformity with our traffic laws."

Watch Bag Drivers

"The plain-clothes policemen will be assigned the task of observing motorists who persist in driving in a manner that makes them a menace on the highway. When such irresponsible operation is observed, the State Policeman in the unmarked car will radio ahead to another State Policeman, in uniform and in a marked car, to either arrest the offender or stop him and give him a warning."

"These enforcement-plus patrols will be assigned to the heavily traveled areas of the Commonwealth's highways during the long weekend. Commissioner Henry has ordered every State Policeman available for highway patrol duty to be at his post during the last long holiday travel period of the summer," Governor Leader said.

Many Cooperate

Additionally, the governor said, newspapers, radio and television stations are cooperating with the holiday safety effort by stressing the Commonwealth's "Safe Trip Home," theme to motorists. More than 30,000 reprints of the State's Labor Day newspaper ad will be posted in strategic locations in gasoline service stations around the Commonwealth.

"We are determined to make Pennsylvania's more than 40,000 miles of highway safe for everyone using them. I know that positive enforcement measures can reduce our accident and fatality toll, and I call on every motorist traveling during the Labor Day period to drive with care, caution and consideration thereby assuring himself and his family of a 'Safe Trip Home,'" Governor Leader concluded.

The holiday weekend starts officially at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Labor Day.

YORK BOY, 17, GIVES POLICE MERRY CHASE

A 17-year-old York boy was lodged in the Adams County jail at 1:30 this morning and released at 11 a.m. after he allegedly took four peaches from in front of Jacobs Bros. Grocery store, Lincoln Square, eluded two pursuers in cars and then fled borough police on an 85-mile-an-hour "blackout" chase through the streets of Gettysburg.

Police said it was during the 85-mile-an-hour chase on N. Washington St. that the boy turned on the lights of his car. Police said there were two other persons in the car with the youngster. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder and Delroy M. Anderson, the probation officer, was called. Western Allies Propose New Disarmament Package

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its Western Allies presented to Russia today a package disarmament plan which would halt the East-West atomic arms race and cut military burdens.

A statement issued here covering presentation of the 11-point plan at the London disarmament talks called it a "practical, workable plan for a start on world disarmament."

The United States originated the proposals but they were worked out jointly with Britain, France and Canada and cleared with the rest of the NATO allies.

Major Provisions

The major provisions which now represent agreed positions of the Western powers are these:

1. A year after the disarmament treaty became effective Russia and the United States would cut their forces to 2,500,000 men each and France and Britain to 750,000 men each.

They would also reduce armaments, placing discarded weapons in storage depots under international control. The levels of the armed forces of other states

FIVE MIGRANT WORKERS ADMIT LIQUOR CHARGE

Five migrant workers Wednesday evening entered pleas of guilty before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore to charges of violating Pennsylvania's liquor regulations.

Six had been arrested for alleged illegal sale, transportation or possession of liquor or beer following raids Saturday night on labor camps in the Aspers-Gardners area.

One of the six, Moses Jenkins, Aspers R. D., and Winter Garden, Pa., was released after the charge of selling whiskey brought against him was dismissed.

Jenkins and his wife, Mrs. Bessie Jenkins, had been jointly charged with selling whiskey. At the hearing Jenkins testified that he was not in the house when his wife admittedly sold a half pint of "Golden Wedding" whiskey to liquor control enforcement agents on August 18, and declared that he had "nothing to do" with sales of whiskey. He said: "I probably knew what she was doing but I still couldn't do anything about it."

Admits Selling Liquor

Mrs. Jackson told the justice that she had made the sales "on her own" and "of her own free will." She posted $1,000 bail to appear for sentence Saturday morning in Adams County court.

Elijah Jackson, 23, Gardner's R. D. and Gordon, Ala.; J. D. Collins, 46, Gardner's R. D. and Gordon, Ala.; R. L. and Clarence Atterberry, 21, of Idaville and Denmark, S. C., all charged with unlawfully selling liquor or beer without a license, were returned to jail in default of $1,000 bail, to appear for sentence Saturday morning.

PIUS L. HARNER DIES WEDNESDAY IN HOSPITAL

Pius L. Harner, 87, W. King St., Littlestown, died in the Warner Hospital Wednesday at 7:25 p.m. He had been admitted as a patient on Aug. 20.

A son of the late Alexander and Susan Catherine Messinger Harner, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ida Lansing Harner, and two children, Mrs. Stanley M. Staub and P. LeRoy Harner, both at home. Three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren survive and a sister, Miss Lily Harner, and a brother, Harvey A. Harner, both of M. St., Littlestown.

The deceased was a lifelong member of St. John's Lutheran Church, near Littlestown and the AOK of MC Lodge at Littlestown, to which he had belonged for fifty-six years. He was a former Adams County school teacher, but in later years had been a cigar packer.

Funeral services on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Little Funeral Home, Littlestown, with his pastor, Rev. W. C. Kams, and Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating. Interment in Mt. Carmel Cemetery. Friends may call Friday evening after 7 o'clock at the funeral home.

Gilbert Wood, 27, Washington, D. C., father of two young children, was electrocuted and a fellow workman was injured at 2:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when a metal rod they were using on the construction of the roof on the new Gettysburg College dining hall came in contact with a 4,800-volt electric line. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said Wood's death was caused by electrocution.

Wood and John C. Davis, 42, also of Washington, both Negroes, were hurled from the roof to the ground 25 feet, by the electrical shock. Davis suffered a fractured nose, contusions of the face and a sprained right wrist in the fall.

The two men had been using the rod, a 20 foot long metal "straight edge," known as a "screed," in placing a concrete deck roof on the new dining hall on W. Lincoln Ave.

Strike High Voltage Line

The "screed" was used as a leveling bar while concrete was distributed on the roof. When the concrete reached the level of the "screed" the metal bar was moved to the next location and concrete filled in there until it again reached the level of the bar.

Wood was moving the bar from one spot to another when it came in contact with a high voltage line about eight feet from the edge of the new structure.

The electric line, William Lentz, local manager of the Metropolitan Edison Co., said had been placed earlier this year. It was a three-strand line from a pole on W. Lincoln Ave. to the rear of the new dining hall and provides the electrical current into the new structure. The line extends along the west side of the building. At the pole at the northwest side of the dining hall a transformer cuts the voltage from the normal 4,800 used in transmission lines in town, to the 115 or 230 volts (commonly known as 110 and 220-volt current) which enters the building to operate electrical appliances and equipment there.

Firemen Are Called

Davis was reported as being "off to the side" when Wood attempted to move the "screed." It was not known whether an electrical shock may have reached him on the moist roof, or whether Wood may have been hurled against him, or whether the sudden flash may have caused him to step backward inadvertently and topple off the roof.

Fellow workmen immediately ran to the aid of the two men and the Gettysburg firemen were summoned. They responded with the rescue truck and ambulance. As they removed the two to the Warner Hospital firemen used resuscitation equipment on Wood, but he was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The men were employees of John H. Hampshire, Inc., Bladensburg, Md., which has the contract for the roof.

Funeral On Sunday

A native of Brantsville, Va., and son of Marion and Maude (Boone) Wood, the deceased is survived by his wife, Gertrude, Washington, and two children, Alonzo Monte Woods and Gilbert Woods Jr., at home.

Funeral services, being arranged through the Peters Funeral Home here, will be held Sunday afternoon with interment in the Galia Church Cemetery at Brantsville.

Metropolitan Edison Manager Lentz said investigation this morning showed that the metal rod had touched one of the three strands of the line into the dining hall. He said the strand appeared burned but would not need to be replaced.

COOK'S HELPER DROPS POUNDS TO TAKE TITLE

MARKHAM, Ill. (AP) — "Diet or die."

There wasn't much else Miss Helen Gernenz could do but diet after her physician gave her that ultimatum a little more than a year ago.

She weighed 385 pounds. Her medical advisor said she would die in 10 days if she didn't stop eating so much food.

Instead of eating herself to death, she lost 191½ pounds. Today Miss Gernenz is hailed as a champion dieter of dieters.

Queen Of Dieters
She was named the nation's 1957 Queen of Dieters by TOPS. The organization of "Take Off Pounds Seriously" held its annual convention in Cincinnati May 25.

Helen estimates that some 2,000 members of the dieting group competed for the title. Entrants came from throughout the United States and Canada.

Although the title was based on the amount of pounds lost in a year, the TOPS group of dieters discovered Miss Gernenz was dead serious about losing pounds.

Was Cook's Helper
Her effort was doubly difficult because she worked in a very tempting atmosphere—as a cook's helper in a restaurant.

But she followed her doctor's orders, taking the medicine he prescribed. She was permitted 800 to 1,000 calories daily. Each morning she took a capsule aimed at curbing her appetite. Three times daily she took a thyroid tablet prescribed by her physician.

At breakfast, Miss Gernenz, who is 32, ate a bowl of cereal with six ounces of milk—her daily allotment. Sometimes she had only toast with her milk.

For lunch, she had her main meal of the day—meat, vegetables, bread and fruit, both canned and fresh.

For dinner, she had a steak sandwich.

Her diet excluded ice cream, starchy foods and soda pop.

"That's what I missed most," she says. "But once in a while, when I get a craving for sweets, I take a little bit of it and that satisfies me. It's what the doctor advised."

Wore Size 68
When Miss Gernenz joined TOPS a year ago last March, she wore a size 60 dress. She would add a four-inch piece of fabric on each side seam to make the dress fit her bulk.

"And that made it a size 68," she said.

She now wears a size 20½.

"I feel wonderful, especially when you can go into a store and buy your own clothes," she said.

Miss Gernenz now weighs 193½ pounds. She intends to reduce until she gets down to 150.

Daily Exercise
She's determined and happy at the prospect that she'll make it. She exercises daily by riding a bicycle. Then, too, the ice box no longer holds the enchantment it once had for her appetite.

Besides, she's looking forward to a longer life and, someday, marriage.

"But I don't know when," she said.

MATERNITY FEE IS LOWER NOW THAN IN 1930

By RENE CAPRON

The Associated Press
Having a baby today is not only much safer for everybody involved than it was a generation ago, but it's actually cheaper, the Health Information Foundation reports.

Not that you pay fewer dollars for doctor and hospital. But, HIF says, if you adjust the figures for inflation, present-day parents come out ahead financially—on paper, anyhow.

A 1930 study of maternity costs showed the average expenditure per child was $160. Translated into today's cheaper currency that would represent some $258.

Average Costs
Now, a recent survey places average maternity cost at $213. And that's about $45 or 18% lower than the real cost—in terms of purchasing power—25 years ago.

"This fact is as welcome as it is startling," HIF President George Bugbee commented. "Maternity care is a significant part of all medical care."

He said the research foundation's study showed that physician's fees for maternity care—again measured in "comparable dollars"—have increased slightly in the 25-year period.

More Care Given
"But this increase is small," he noted, "in view of the greater proportion of physician time devoted to prenatal care and the increasing proportion of total care being given by specialists in obstetrics."

Charting the strides in maternity care in the past generation, the HIF also reported this striking contrast:

In 1935, 63 per cent of American babies were born outside hospitals and 13 per cent of live births were unattended by a physician. Today almost 95 per cent of U. S. babies make their debut in hospitals and doctors duly preside over fully 97 per cent of all births.

Furthermore, the foundation said, mothers in recent years averaged nine consultations with their physicians during the prenatal period.

The average hospital stay of obstetrical cases has been reduced from 12 days 25 years ago to a foundation said, and ever "at a higher cost per day of hospital care, the average hospitalized patient is paying less for hospital care than in 1930—$92 as contrasted with about $102 (comparable dollars).

NIGHTSHIRT IS SHORT IN RED HUNGARY SHOPS

By CARL HARTMAN

BUDAPEST (AP) — Communist Hungary is suffering from an acute shortage of men's nightshirts — for the very capitalist reason that the industry can't make enough profit on them.

This is the kind of situation that often arises in Hungary's planned economy. It leads to long lines in front of shops when the report gets about that some rare item — tangerines, for example, or nightshirts — will go on sale.

Perturbed by the nightshirt situation, the enterprising Budapest evening newspaper Esti Hirlap put a reporter on it and printed a long story on bureaucracy and economics.

Big Demand
The first thing the reporter found was that no matter what people may think of nightshirts anywhere else, there is still a big demand for them in Hungary. A shipment from East Germany was snapped up in a single day, said the manager of a government-owned shop.

Then he set out on the problem of whose responsibility it is, in a Communist economy, to see that enough nightshirts are produced.

As sometimes happens in capitalist countries too, he got something of a run-around. But finally he got an answer from a man connected with a textile mill which used to make nightshirts.

Cotton Expensive
Seems a nightshirt requires more cotton and less labor than a man's shirt, and the government-set selling price is lower. Now cotton is an expensive import item, labor is the cheapest commodity available in Hungary, and even a government-owned factory has to show a profit.

A nightshirt selling at 75 forints (about $6.40) costs about 70 forints (about $5.97) to produce. This small mark-up has to be divided among the manufacturer, the government wholesale organization and the retail shop — also usually government-owned.

What was needed, the textile mill people said, was a nightshirt subsidy.

Apparently this is going to be arranged, though the story does not say how. The director of the cloth section of the ministry of internal trade says definitely that the textile mill is going to go back to nightshirt production later this year. Unfortunately it will make only 8,000 and the demand for the Budapest area alone is estimated at 25,000.

Report 2nd Missile Ready For Firing
COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Reports that a second missile may be shot from here this week circulated today in the wake of the test-firing of a projectile with a range of 1,500 miles.

The Defense Department would not comment on whether the firing was a reply to Russia's claim that Soviet scientists have tested missile able to deliver a hydrogen bomb load anywhere in the world.

Neither would officials at Washington or at Patrick Air Force Base near here disclose whether the missile fired yesterday was a Thor or a Jupiter. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles. The Jupiter was developed by the Army, the Thor by the Air Force.

GSA Approves Four State Institutions For Children At First Public Meeting

HARRISBURG (P)—Approval of four new state institutions for children and a sharp political squabble over committee appointments highlighted the General State Authority's first open-door meeting in history.

The executive committee of the state's borrow and build agency, meeting yesterday with newsmen present, approved a $26,800,000 building plan for institutions for mentally and emotionally disturbed children. They will be located at Canonsburg, Philadelphia, White Haven and Ebensburg and will have 2,170 beds.

These first four may some day be part of an overall program calling for 5,470 beds to cost $3 million dollars.

Leader, Smith Tangle
Gov. Leader, chairman of the board, and Auditor Gen. Charles C. Smith, also a member by virtue of his office, tangled in the argument over politics. Normally the chairman names members of his own party as chairman of the important priorities, architects and engineers and other committees. But the board is now divided evenly by political party, six Republicans and six Democrats. Its membership is provided by the law that created the agency.

Smith asked Leader to distribute ships evenly but the governor objected this would be "an infringement on my rights as chairman to name the committees."

Smith Finally Agrees
Smith finally agreed to approve Leader's appointments with the understanding that the governor as chairman and an ex-officio member of each committee, would not have a vote on each.

Committee chairman: Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), priorities; Secretary of Property and Supplies; Andrew M. Bradley, architects and engineers; Michael F. Lawler, extension of time; Internal Affairs Secretary; Genevieve Blatt, personnel; Bradley, insurance, and Rep. Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks), arbitration. There was no action on 50 million dollars worth of construction recommended by the previous priorities committee.

Approve Bond Sale
The board approved the sale Sept. 19 of 25 million dollars in bonds to finance further projects. It builds by issuing bonds and then renting the facilities constructed.

The new bond issue will raise to 260 millions the total borrowed by the authority. Its ceiling, raised 50 millions by the 1957 Legislature, is 480 million dollars.

The curtain of secrecy, associated with GSA sessions since the agency was created 10 years ago, was stripped away three days in advance of the effective date of the "open meetings" law.

The 1957 Legislature passed the law which specifically directs GSA to open its meetings to the public. No formal mention was made of it being the first public meeting in agency history.

The authority approved construction of the children's units under the Welfare Department at these locations:

Canonsburg, 684 beds, $9,200,000; Philadelphia State Hospital, 344 beds, $7,800,000; White Haven near Hazleton 640 beds, $5,300,000; and Ebensburg, 504 beds, $4,500,000.

The board agreed to ask the State Justice Department to study requirements for letting contracts on authority projects. A. J. Caruso executive director, asked that the authority be allowed to accept one general bid for each project to "do away with some of the delay caused by disagreements between individual contractors."

"Why should we have to award one contract for plumbing, another for electrical work and others for heating and the like?" Caruso asked. "We should be able to put them all under one contract."

Next meeting of the VFW will be held September 11.

Darkness Stops Playoff Game

Ortanna and the Fairfield Amvets, in the midst of a three-game series to determine the champion of the Fairfield Lions League, were stopped by darkness Wednesday evening after five innings. It had previously been decided that playoff games must go the full seven innings.

Richard Straup, league director, said today the game will be played Monday afternoon at Fairfield. Ortanna holds a 1-0 edge in the series.

LEADER CITES BRIDGE PLANS IN MILLERSBURG

MILLERSBURG, Pa. (P)—Gov. Leader took advantage of the opening of the Millersburg Sesqui-centennial Celebration to disclose progress on a projected eight million dollar ride across the Susquehanna in the vicinity of this northern Dauphin County community.

As featured speaker of the first night of the week-long celebration last night, Leader declared, "I think that you will find that the building of the Millersburg bridge . . . will help you to attract new industry to this region."

He said work on the first phase of construction plans, a comprehensive engineering survey of the area, has already begun. After it is completed a road will be built from Millersburg to the west shore of the river a distance of 12-13 miles.

1st Active Work
"This road the true justification for the Millersburg Bridge will be the first piece of actual work on the overall project," the governor explained. The final phase will connect U.S. 209 and the proposed interstate Route 3.

The bridge will be financed 50 per cent by the federal government as part of the primary aid highway system. More than 3000 former Millersburg residents and their families were on hand for opening day ceremonies. The celebration began with the arrival of a "pony express" from Harrisburg. Fourteen-year-old Millersburg boys carried the mail which included letters from Sens. Edward Martin and Joseph S. Clark.

A pageant with a 250-member cast told the story of the founding of the community by Daniel Miller and its subsequent growth.

Cigaret Trading Stamps Are Legal

HARRISBURG (P)—A State Justice Department ruling permits dealers to give trading stamps with purchases of cigarettes.

"It is the opinion of the department," the ruling states, "that it is not a violation of the Unfair Cigaret Sales Act to give trading stamps with the sale of cigarettes." The ruling was made yesterday on a request by the State Revenue Department.

Since the law makes it illegal to sell cigarettes at less than cost with the intent to injure competition the question arose on whether giving stamps would be banned.

Says Many Taking Advanced Math

HARRISBURG (P)—A special state consultant who studied math and science teaching in commonwealth high schools reports a sharp increase in the number of students studying advanced mathematics.

Dr. Lee Boyer, formerly of Millersville State Teachers College, said that his study made last year showed an increase of 53 per cent in the number of students taking advanced algebra compared with five years ago. For trigonometry the increase was 9 per cent.

In sciences, Dr. Boyer found 8 per cent more students studying chemistry and 9 per cent more in physics classes. Altogether, last year there were 274,000 students enrolled in science course and 86,800 in math courses in Pennsylvania high schools.

ATOM EXPERTS TEST FALLOUT DOSES ON MICE

PALO ALTO, Calif. (P)—It takes about one thousand times as much radiation as there is in fallout to shorten the life of a mouse, a team of investigators for the Atomic Energy Commission reported today.

There are many possible errors in this calculation, the researchers said, but it gives a quick picture of what might be expected. They used mice because of their normally short life span—two to three years—and because they could work with hundreds of them.

Results of the test were reported to the American Institute of Biological Sciences by Dr. Miriam P. Finkel. Associated with her were Birute O. Biskis and Gertrude M. Scribner. The work was done at the Argonne National Laboratory at Lemont, Ill.

Used 810 Mice
The investigators used 810 mice. The animals were subjected to varying doses of radioactive strontium, the principal long-range hazard which comes from the debris of uranium or plutonium fission bombs.

Mice given the heaviest doses soon died of radiation sickness. Intermediate doses produced many tumors in the lymph glands and bones of the animals. The lightest dose, the researchers said, was 10 times the presently prescribed safe dose for humans working with atomic materials.

Calculating the average amount needed to shorten a mouse life time was a problem but this dose turned out to be about twice the supposedly safe dose for man and "about 1,000 times the most pessimistic estimate of current human contamination from fallout."

3 FREED FROM DAUPHIN JAIL

HARRISBURG (P)—Three Cambria County men were released today from the Dauphin County jail after serving three months of 6-to-23 month terms on charges they shortchanged the state in delivery of highway cinders.

Presiding Judge Homer L. Kreider of Dauphin County put the men on probation for the balance of their sentences.

The three are Anthony L. Roberts and Leonard D. Sheehan, partners in a Cresson cinder firm, and Adam J. Molino, former state highways superintendent for Cambria County.

At the same time Dist. Atty. Huette F. Dowling reported that the state's contract with the firm would be canceled and that the state would do no further business with Sheehan and Roberts.

In their petition for parole Sheehan and Roberts had cited a state purchase order for 30,000 cubic yards of cinders as one reason why they should be released.

Sheehan testified at today's parole hearing that if freed he and Roberts would be able to complete the contract with the state. Dowling then said that at a Tuesday conference with Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride it had been decided to cancel the contract.

Kreider cited as reasons for parole the facts that the three had pleaded guilty, that they had made full restitution to the state of $36,881.96, that they had been good prisoners and that they had "learned a lesson."

New Expressway Will Be Freeway

BALTIMORE (P)—Maryland's proposed northeastern expressway between here and the Delaware line will be a freeway, but will include a toll bridge crossing the Susquehanna River.

The State Roads Commission announcement two weeks ago, that the road would be free, didn't mention the toll bridge. SRC spokesmen said yesterday they felt construction of the toll bridge was so clearly understood they did not need to mention it.

The expressway is to roughly parallel U.S. 40. The bridge will be located about midway of its 56-mile length.

State Farms Have Top Fair Arabians

TIMONIUM, Md. (P)—Three Pennsylvania farms took top honors at the 76th annual Maryland State Fair yesterday.

All three competed in event for Arabian horses. Foye Farms of Hanover, Pa., won in the yearling class; Pleasant Valley Arabian Stud, Woodland, Pa., won in two-year-olds, and Rock Creek Farm of Gettysburg won in the three-year-old class.

HARRISBURG (P)—The State Pardons Board today fixed Sept. 17 to hear a plea by Norman Moon, 32, for commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment in the slaying of a Warren County judge.

Moon, formerly of Conneville, was sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of Sept. 30 in the courtroom slaying of Judge Allison D. Wade on Jan. 13, 1954. Moon whipped out a pistol and shot the judge when he was called into court on a non-support charge.

State Motor Group Compliments Lawler

HARRISBURG (P)—Outgoing Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler is complimented as "most cooperative" by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

In a letter to Gov. Leader, John S. Giles, Reading, PMF president, said his organization "deeply regret" Lawler's departure from the post he has held since the start of the Leader administration. Lawler will leave by Oct. 1 to become a member of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Giles urged the governor to name a successor who is an engineer familiar with highway programs and "an individual with an ability to meet officials in Washington."

Youth Is Found Hanging In Tree

LANCASTER, Pa. (P)—The body of JOHN MARTIN Hess, 12, was found hanging from a cherry tree on his father's farm at nearby Mt. Joy last night.

The boy's death was attributed to a "tragic accident" by Dr. John Gates, acting deputy coroner of Lancaster County. He said John apparently slipped from a limb of the tree while enacting some scene that had captured his imagination.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Menno L. Hess Jr. His body was found suspended from a branch of the tree by a length of rope noosed around his neck. His body was found by his brother, Nathan, who was sent out to look for him when he failed to come in for supper.

EXEMPT MANY FARM PIECES

A wide variety of farm items used directly in the production of food has been declared exempt from the Pennsylvania Sales and Use Tax, according to Wayne Hindman, president of the Pennsylvania Farm Equipment Dealers' Association.

Many harvesting implements, feeders and other equipment used in caring for livestock, fertilizers and fertilizer distributors, and seeds are included in the new list of more than 63 items now exempt from the tax.

Some of the more important tools exempted are ensilage cutters, farm tractors and accessories, milk-handling equipment, irrigation equipment, barn cleaners, rotary hoes, sacks, silo unloaders, water pumps, and tires used on agricultural implements.

The list was drawn up to clarify the sales-and-use tax status of farm machinery, says Hindman. Further studies by the sales-tax office are still in progress.

Members of the Pennsylvania Farm Equipment Dealers' Association have the latest information on machinery exempted from the sales-and-use tax. All member dealers also have the required exemption certificates.

Paul C. Moomaw, head of the Social Security Bureau, expects to confer next week in Baltimore with federal officials to complete a contract which will bring some 100,000 members of the state and school employees retirement systems into the federal social security program.

More than 97 per cent of the eligible voters approved consolidation of the state and federal pension plans in a referendum Monday and Tuesday.

Today's Talk

OTHERS

The day of your salvation is when you stop thinking of yourself and begin to think of others. Just try to carry out this idea and note how much happier you become at once! It isn't a secret, and there is nothing new to it — except that more people think of themselves than others, and that's why they get troubled and wonder why they are not happier.

I once heard of a missionary who wished to send a Christmas greeting to the ones who sent greetings to him, but wanted to make it as brief as possible so as to save the cable charge. He sent but one word — Others!

The more you think of this idea the more you realize how much you are indebted to others. Oh, in so many ways, and we are never in too much of a hurry to acknowledge the fact. By always keeping others in mind, we free ourselves that much and learn the path into other people's hearts.

That wonderful organization, the A. A., may well have it said that its great usefulness has depended upon the unselfishness of others, and their kindly aid at the right time. It is inspiring to note the large number of organizations, whose objects are to serve others.

Take the Boy and Girl Scout movements, the Red Cross, the March of Dimes, the Visiting Nurses, and all those many campaigns to help alleviate suffering, all these have as their object the serving of others. When there are so many about us that need our help and guidance, we render a service to ourselves when we support all these kindly movements. Each becomes an investment in our own health and happiness.

SIMPSON SAYS PROXIMIRE WIN RESULTS FROM LACK OF CHOICE

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, said today he was not greatly surprised at the upset victory scored by Democrat William Proxmire in Wisconsin's special senatorial election.

"Having to choose between two ultra-liberal candidates, the large Republican conservative majority in the state stayed home and allowed a liberal Democrat to win," Simpson told a newsman.

Simpson and his committee staff are reviewing a breakdown of returns in the election Tuesday in which Proxmire defeated Wisconsin's three-time governor, Walter J. Kohler, a staunch supporter of President Eisenhower.

Sen. Clark's Reaction

In contrast to Simpson's reaction to the election, Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) said when he heard the news he could react only "like an 11-year-old" and shout enthusiastically: "Oh, boy!"

"Really, that was the way I felt," said Clark, and added: "I think it's the greatest shot in the arm for the Democratic party since last November."

Clark said one thing that surprised him was the margin by which Proxmire won—more than 122,000 votes ahead of Kohler, who had twice before beaten Proxmire in Wisconsin gubernatorial elections.

Like Clark's Victory

Proxmire's victory was similar in a way to Clark's last fall when Clark emerged victor in a state historically regarded as largely Republican—although not so much so as Wisconsin.

Simpson said he does not want to "minimize" his regrets at the Republican defeat, but added: "I do attribute it to the fact

Plans for the coming season will also be made at the meeting. The regular meetings of the troop will begin September 1 at 3:45 p.m. at the Grace Reformed Church.

BECK CHARGED WITH EVASION OF INCOME TAX

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A second multiple indictment charging evasion of income taxes—this time totaling $184,000—faced Dave Beck today. His son and four others are accused of aiding him conceal his earnings.

The seven count charge covering the years 1951-53 was returned here yesterday by a federal grand jury and quickly denied in Los Angeles by the portly head of the that the Republican candidate was nominated by less than one-third of the votes cast in the primary election.

The veteran congressman noted also that Proxmire's term is for only 16 months—the unexpired term of the late Sen. McCarthy (R), who died on May 2.

"I believe plans already are being made to unseat this man in 1958 by the election of a conservative Republican—meaning a Republican who will vote wisely and conservatively, as does the Republican congressional delegation."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Rev. Mumper To Accept Church In Washington: The Rev. J. Harold Mumper, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Littlestown and son of Mrs. Ida Mumper, Baltimore street, has received a call from the congregation of the Keller Memorial Lutheran church, Washington, D. C. The Rev. Mr. Mumper will accept the call.

The new minister will take the place of the Rev. S. T. Nicholas, who retired from the Washington pastorate. The Rev. Mr. Nicholas, a Gettysburg college and seminary graduate in 1890 and 1893 respectively, had served the Keller Memorial church since 1913.

The Rev. Mr. Mumper is a graduate of Gettysburg college in the class of 1921 and from the Lutheran Theological Seminary here in 1925. He served a pastorate at Westville, New Jersey, from 1925 to 1932. Since then he has been a Little.

Census Taken Of School-Age Children Here: With the enumeration of children of school age already completed in Gettysburg, approximate figures were announced today by Superintendent Lloyd C. Kefauver for enrollment in the various grades.

Professor G. W. Lefever, high school principal, stated today that the total enrollment in the high school this year is expected to be about equal to that during the 1936-37 school year when 532 students were listed. The senior class for the coming year will be slightly below the graduating class for the last year when 101 received diplomas. However offsetting this condition will be what promises to be the largest junior class in the history of the school. Juniors are expected to number over 140.

Superintendent Kefauver said that present indications are that there will be about 90 first grade students, which is about an average class size. The second grade scholars will number about 104; third grade, 78.

Describes Trip For Lions: Members of the Gettysburg Lions Club gathered Monday evening for their weekly meeting. The session was held at a cottage in the South Mountains. After the dinner Dean W. E. Tilberg told of incidents of interest on the 11,000-mile trip he has recently completed through the west and middle-west. Vice President Ira Y. Baker presided at the meeting.

William King, Barber For 49 Years: Retired: William L. King, 136 East Middle street, a barber in Gettysburg for 49 years, announced today that he has sold the good will and fixtures of his barber business on Baltimore Street, American Legion building, to Guy W. Mickley, Chambersburg street barber.

Mr. King, who has conducted his own shop on Baltimore street for nearly four years, has retired from business because of ill health. He first entered the trade in a shop at the present location of Spangler restaurant on Chambersburg street, where the purchaser of his business, Mr. Mickley, learned the trade under Mr. King. The two men were later in partnership on Chambersburg street for a number of years.

Teamsters Union. It culminated a four and a half week investigation by the jurors who indicted Beck May 2 on charges of evading $56,000 in taxes in 1950.

Named in the indictment were his son Dave Jr.; Fred Verschuere, Sr., an auditor for the Teamsters Union; Nathan Shefferman, a Chicago labor relations consultant; Shefferman's son, Shelton; and Norman Gessert, a Teamsters Union organizer who is a cousin of Mrs. Beck Sr.

Short 3 Years

The jury accused Beck and his wife of declaring net income of $49,944.83 for 1951 when it actually should have been $166,035.61, paying a tax of $18,692.02 instead of $100,301.39.

In 1952, the Becks reported income of $51,991.75 and paid a tax of $22,202.22. The indictment says the actual income was $169,211.21 and the tax should have been $110,670.24.

The following year they paid $30,005.72 on a declared income of $63,730.31 when, the indictment charges, they should have paid $44,415.71 on an income of $84,758.10.

The conspiracy indictment, in two counts, charges all six defendants concealed and misrepresented Beck's actual income.

Maximum penalty for income tax evasion and for conspiracy is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for each count.

Yankees Stop White Sox Bid For Triumph; Braves Defeated; Dodgers Beat Cubs To Take 2nd

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Bulet Bob Turley, once a strong but wild strikeout artist who fired away and hoped for the best, finally has become a pitcher, a poised and powerful ace who has slammed the door on the Chicago White Sox in their big bid to overhaul New York's Yankees.

The big right-hander has proved himself virtually overnight in his sixth major league season — just when the Yankees needed him most.

He has won nine of 11 and has become the major league leader with a 2.41 earned run average.

Stop Uprising
It was Turley who fanned Minnie Minoos with the bases loaded in the eighth for a 12-6 triumph in Tuesday's opener. Last night, with the tying run on third and the winning run on second, Turley sent a called third strike past Sammy Esposito in the ninth for a 5-4 victory that put the Yankees 5½ games ahead of the second place Sox.

While the Yankees were at work in what may prove to be the wrap-up job in their run for a third straight American League pennant, Milwaukee's Braves came off with a seven-game lead in pursuit of their first National League flag after a 12-6 clobbering by the New York Giants.

Bucs Beat Cards
The defeat melted a half game from the Milwaukee edge as Pittsburgh's Ronnie Kline blanked St. Louis 2-0 with a six-hitter and skidded the Cards to third. Brooklyn took second, beating Chicago's Cubs 4-3 in 14 innings. Cincinnati gained full charge of fourth, beating Philadelphia back to fifth 6-5.

In the other AL games, Boston was held to only two hits by Billy Bunning and Billy Hoeltz but one was Ted Williams' 33rd home run that defeated Detroit 1-0. Baltimore walloped Cleveland 19-6, regaining fifth from the Tribe. Washington defeated Kansas City 3-2.

Turley, relieved in the sixth last night after the Sox had tagged Larsen for a run that cut New York's lead to 4-2. The Yankees had smashed a 1-0 Sox edge in the fourth with the first of a pair of two-run frames against 17-game winner Billy Pierce, who lost his 10th.

Larsen Wins Eighth
Earl Torgeson rapped a two-run homer off Turley in the seventh, after Hank Bauer's homer had given him the big edge in the top of the frame. Larry Doby's one-out single, a walk and an infield out set up the payoff whammy on Sammy that saved Larsen's eighth victory.

Bunning was touched for both Red Sox hits. The skinny right-hander, now 15-7, gave up the first hit when Billy Klaus singled in the fourth. Frank Sullivan won it with a 10-hitter.

Williams, tying Yankee Mickey Mantle and Washington's Roy Sievers for the AL home run lead, kept his average at .380 when Mantle, 0-for-4, lost three points for .373.

The Giants nailed the Braves with eight runs in the third off Gene Conley, now 8-7. Valmy Thomas chipped in a three-run double in the frame that brought rookie Curt Barclay an 8-7 mark.

Wally Post Homers
Kline, who has won four in a row for a 6-15 mark, made it against the Cards as Hank Foiles and Bill Virdon singled for a run in the third off Larry Jackson, who also gave six hits.

Wally Post's two-run 17th homer capped a six-run second for the Redlegs. Curt Simmons lost it. Brooks Lawrence won it with relief help for a 12-11 record.

A pinch-single by Elmer Valo got the job done for the Brooks, who hadn't been second since July 24. Ed Roebuck, relieving in the sixth, won his sixth, blanking the Cubs on three singles.

The Orioles hit the one-game scoring high in AL this season with Gus Triandos rapping a pair of home runs and a double. Connie Johnson fanned 12, but needed relief help to win his 12th.

Steinour Wins 2nd Local Tennis Title

Sidney Steinour, 17-year-old net star, won the adult championship of the tennis tournament conducted by the Recreation Association by defeating Mike Sundermeyer 6-3, 6-1 Wednesday.

Steinour, who also won the junior tournament honors, gained the finals when his brother, Rodney, was forced to forfeit to Sundermeyer.

Game Tonight In Softball Playoffs

The Elks, holding a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five series, will meet the Hess Antiques this evening at 7:30 on the Recreation Park diamond in the fourth game of the playoffs for the local Softball League title.

If a fifth game is required it will be played Friday evening.

Regular Saturday Card At Speedway

The hot NASCAR point battle continues this Saturday night at the Lincoln Speedway featuring the two high point leaders, Charlie Boone, York, and the flying Scot from Delta, Johnny Mackison. Boone moved back into the lead by two points over Mackison, while they were both having car troubles last Saturday night, and with the season coming close to the end it appears these two hot pilots will battle right down to the last race before the lead is determined.

George Kessler continues to hold down the third spot, while Bill Smith, York, has moved into fourth spot giving the York lead-foots three out of the first four positions.

Saturday night's show consisting of 3 10-lap heats, 1 12-lap consolation, a 5-lap trophy dash and the 25-lap main event will get underway at 8:30 p.m.

TROUBLE LOOMS IF SAVITT WINS TENNIS TOURNNEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (P) — The National tennis championships get under way at the West Side Tennis Club tomorrow and if stubborn Dick Savitt wins it, the U.S. brass would be in a dilemma, indeed.

This is the shakedown tournament for spots on the Davis Cup squad. Savitt, a big, powerful blaster has steadfastly refused to play on the Cup squad since he got into a rhubarb with Frank Shields when the latter was non-playing captain some years ago.

Savitt has been seeded No. 2 behind Aussie Ashley Cooper. If he does win it, the bigwigs are virtually committed to asking him to play on the Davis Cup team. If his past performances can be taken as an indication, his answer will be a big "no."

Could Have Won
Many tennis officials who obviously don't want to go on record are quick to point out that if Savitt and Budge Patty had been playing on U.S. Davis Cup teams the past three years, there probably would have been no talk of the Australians being just too good.

They think that Savitt and Patty, who does most of his playing in Europe, could have taken good care of Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall and Co.

Savitt figures to have no trouble against Calvin McCracken of Tenafly, N.J., in his first round match. Cooper goes against John Brownlow of Cleveland, while Patty, seeded seventh, has as his first-round opponent Lawrence Shaffer of New York.

Davidson Third
Sven Davidson of Sweden is seeded third behind Savitt and he drew Charles Masterson of the home club as his No. 1 foe. Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, Neale Fraser of Australia and Ham Richardson of Westfield, N.J., are rated Nos. 4, 5 and 6.

Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., still trying for a spot on the Davis Cup squad, is ranked eighth. He drew Alejandro Olmedo of Peru, a tough customer. Althea Gibson of New York, who has been winning them all, heads the women's field. Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., is second seeded.

GUNNERS TAKE CAGE HONORS

The Gunners captured the championship of the Recreation Basketball League by defeating the Dons 43-35 Wednesday evening. The teams had finished their regular season in a tie for first place and the one-game playoff for the title had been decided upon.

It was a nip and tuck scrap during the first half which found the Dons holding a scant 17-16 edge at half time. The Gunners swept to a 29-23 lead at the end of the third period and held onto their lead until the finish.

Schmitt and Carier sparked their respective teams with 16 points each.

50-50 SNARES SECOND TITLE IN LATE RALLY

The 50-50 Class added the playoff championship to its regular season title in the Recreation Slow Pitch League by nipping the Gettysburg Times 4-3 in a three-run last inning rally Wednesday evening.

In the fast and well-played game, the 50-50 Class scored a run in the last of the third inning after which the Times pounded over three in the fifth.

With one out in the bottom of the seventh inning Crist tripled for the 50-50 Class and scored on a wild pitch. Carbaugh walked and P. Rohrbaugh doubled. Another passed ball and a fielder's choice allowed the runs.

Crist and P. Rohrbaugh each collected a trio of safeties for the winners. Walmer, Shepard and T. Small poled two each for the Times.

Hagerstown Gets Ready For Meet
HAGERSTOWN, Md. — From 8 o'clock in the morning until late in the afternoon is a long time to be cooped up in one spot, especially when the sun is beating down on a flat top roof and you have only a limited space in which to move about.

Such was the case until this year in the jockey quarters at Hagerstown's Fairgrounds. But this will be a thing of the past during the coming 12-day race meet here, which opens on Monday, Sept. 9 and runs through Saturday, Sept. 21.

The latest improvement to the modern Hagerstown racing plant is the complete renovating of the second floor of the paddock building. How the jockeys who ride here will have the finest facilities available at any of Maryland's half-mile tracks.

While Chuck Esagian's batting drives Schenectady in hot pursuit of Binghamton in the Eastern League pennant race, Pat Utley's pitching is keeping the Triplets out of reach.

Switches Style To Defeat Gomes

BOSTON (P) — Isidro Martinez today looked hopefully up the featherweight ladder after confounding veteran Harold Gomes on a southpaw switch.

Martinez, who arrived only recently from Panama, won a unanimous 10-round decision over the Providence, R. I. boy last night in a nationally televised bout by changing from orthodox to left-handed style near the end of the third round.

The Central American, weighing 129½ to Gomes' 127½, snapped Harold's winning streak at 12 bouts. He has 10-3-1 record to 40-4 for Gomes.

Proposed North-South Road Would Begin At Binghamton And Extend To Hagerstown, Md.

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP) — The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads said today a proposed north-south limited access highway east of the Susquehanna River would run through the heart of the anthracite region.

The 200-mile Anthracite Expressway would start at Binghamton, N. Y., proceed south through all of Pennsylvania and wind up at Hagerstown, Md., as part of the federal interstate highway system.

District Engineer J. L. Stinson said a detailed location approved by his bureau calls for the route to skirt New Milford and Scranton after proceeding southwardly from Binghamton.

From there it would continue east of Wilkes-Barre, west of Hazleton and go atop Broad Mountain in the Shenandoah-Mahoney City area.

Skirt Harrisburg
It would proceed east of Ashland, enter the Blue Mountains in the vicinity of Pine Grove, skirt Harrisburg near Fort Hunter and run southwardly near Carlisle until it ends at Hagerstown.

"Surveys are continuing to lay out a precise line," Stinson said, "that includes aerial photographs and on-the-spot surveying teams."

The section between Pine Grove and Fort Hunter is still a question mark because of the intervening 21,000-acre Indian town Gap Military Reservation. Both federal and state officials want to keep the highway from bisecting the reservation.

Start In Year Or Two
Stinson said it would be a year or longer before final plans are completed on the entire north-south route.

Actual construction—financed 90 per cent by federal funds—would not begin for another year or two after that depending on what priority is assigned to the road by state officials.

Stinson ruled out any chance that the bureau may rescind its approval of the Scranton-Ashland-Harrisburg route in favor of one west of the Susquehanna River along U. S. 11.

Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler echoed the same viewpoint but added that he anticipated work would be done on U. S. 11 to make it a four-lane highway with bypasses of larger communities.

Lawler Criticized
An organization asking that the north-south interstate route be located west of the Susquehanna has criticized Lawler for the anthracite route.

But the highways secretary replied that a route west of the Susquehanna was "not feasible or sound engineering."

"It was, and is our position, that improvements can be made to U. S. 11 which will provide adequate traffic service and relief to all communities along the present location," Lawler said.

"If we were to adopt the location on the west bank of the Susquehanna River, very little of existing U. S. 11 would be utilized and that portion which could be utilized would have to be rebuilt, and there would be a tremendous loss in actual highway improvement."

Statement Is Challenged
At Bloomsburg, the Original Route 11 Assn. immediately challenged Stinson's statement.

"Harrisburg may have written off the efforts of the Original Route 11 Assn. But we haven't," declared Paul R. Eyerly, chairman.

He said that he had a letter from the Public Roads Bureau headquarters in Washington dated Aug. 14 saying that the state had not submitted its selection for a location of the new road between Ashland and Harrisburg.

"Knowing the integrity of Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highways administrator, it is difficult to conceive he would have scheduled a conference in Washington only next week with representatives of the Original Route 11 Assn. had the door been closed," Eyerly continued.

He threatened the association might go to court to force the State Highways Department to disclose "facts and figures" on the case.

COMMISSIONERS NAME PRESIDENT

PITTSBURGH (AP) — William H. Claypoole, an Armstrong County Commissioner, is the new president of the Pennsylvania Assn. of County Commissioners.

He was advanced from first vice president at the closing session yesterday of the association's 71st annual convention. Fred W. Lamberton of Erie County was upped from second to first vice president.

Herbert S. Bolger of Blair County was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Norman H. Flores of Lehigh County won election as second vice president in a spirited race with William J. Lane of Washington County and John T. Welsh of Bucks County. Flores will advance automatically to first vice president next year and president the following year.

Philadelphia was selected as the 1958 convention city.

Before adjourning, delegates adopted a resolution calling for immediate construction of a modern highway between Erie and the West Virginia border.

Another resolution was aimed at eliminating overlapping of governmental control and responsibilities in Pennsylvania.

NO EASY STREET
POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Some residents of nearby North Coventry township awoke this morning to find they no longer live on Easy Street.

The township road supervisors last night changed the name to Creek Road.

Green and black olives, radishes, celery and pickles all make fine accompaniments for that cheese-and-cracker tray.

Teamsters Union May Break With AFL-CIO Over Charges Alleging Corrupt Influences

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Teamsters Union Executive Board members scattered to their home cities today, preparing to reassemble in Washington in one week to give, in person, their reply to AFL-CIO charges that the big union is under corrupt influence.

President Dave Beck said the answer to the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee will be "a courteous statement." When a reporter asked if it could lead to the 1,400,000-member Teamsters leaving the combined labor organization he said "I don't know."

Beck summarized the work of the Executive Board's three-day closed-door meeting at its conclusion yesterday, dividing it into two important phases:

Answer Charges
1. A decision to present personally to the Ethical Practices Committee a resolution setting forth the Teamsters position on the corrupt influence charges, and including recommendations to the union's international convention starting in Miami, Fla., on Sept. 30. The committee meets in Washington Sept. 3-6.

2. Adoption of a resolution authorizing Beck to appoint a special committee to investigate six disputed local unions in New York City.

These are the alleged "paper" or nonexistent locals which the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee alleged were set up by Teamster Vice President James Hoffa of Detroit, with gangster assistance, to expand Hoffa's power in the East.

Charges Against Hoffa
The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee which made the corrupt influence charge against the union itself has included unspecified charges against Hoffa, the most likely successor to Beck, who is retiring as president of the Teamsters.

Beck said the resolution for investigation of the New York locals was on a motion by Hoffa, seconded by Vice President Thomas Hickey of New York. The president added: "There's two great chums."

Hickey has been the only announced rival to Hoffa for the $50,000-a-year union presidency, although yesterday Hickey said he would step aside if Executive Vice President Elmer Mohn should become a candidate.

Before returning to his Seattle home, Beck took time to tell reporters: "No comment until I talk to my attorney to see what the hell it is," concerning a new federal income tax evasion indictment against him in Tacoma, Wash.

He added, however, "I'm not guilty—that I assure you."

A fully developed thunderstorm cloud may measure more than four miles from its base to its top.

JAIL TRUSTIES RETURN 'HOME'

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Two escaped prisoners returned to the Luzerne County jail last night — one on foot and the other driving the guard's car in which the pair fled.

Thomas Saunders, 24, Curry Hill, Plymouth Twp., returned at about 8 o'clock. He told head keeper John Kwasiak that he hitchhiked nearly to Binghamton, N.Y., then decided to return.

William E. White, 35, Scranton, drove back to the prison after midnight in the black and white auto of guard Alex Liskowitz.

The two, both trustees, drove away in the car after being asked to change sparkplugs by Liskowitz. A constant watch is not kept on trustees at the jail, and Liskowitz had gone back inside while White and Saunders were working on the car.

White is serving a one-to-two year term for auto theft and Saunders eight months to three years for burglary and larceny.

SHOOTING TERMED SUICIDE ATTEMPT

VINELAND, N.J. (AP)—A 51-year-old broker was found shot and critically wounded near his parked car on Rt. 47 last night, and police termed the shooting an attempted suicide.

Arthur Lambert of 20 Nelson St. was found near the spot where Paul H. Graubeding was found dying of a 22 caliber bullet wound last Saturday. Police said Graubeding, an oil researcher, was apparently the victim of an accident.

A .22 caliber rifle was also found near where Lambert lay.

At first, police said, Lambert claimed that he had been shot by a hitch-hiker. Later, however, he was quoted by police as saying that he had tried to take his own life because of family troubles.

Lambert was taken to Newcombe Hospital in critical condition.

6 Women Cleared Of Witchcraft

BOSTON (AP)—The State of Massachusetts has wiped from the books the convictions of six women unjustly accused of being witches 265 years ago.

Gov. Foster Furcolo signed a legislative resolve clearing Ann Pudeator, Bridget Bishop, Susanne Martin, Alice Parker, Margaret Scott and Milnot Reed.

All had been convicted in a colonial court and hanged during the 17th century witchcraft hysteria in Salem.

TONY PASTOR TO PLAY AT HERSHEY

HERSHEY, Pa. — Tony Pastor, for many years one of the leading dance band leaders, brings his orchestra to Hershey Park's starlight ballroom Saturday evening.

Pastor, whose vocal ability was first recognized by Artie Shaw, is remembered for his singing on Shaw's popular recording of "Indian Love Call," which sold over a million copies. Another topflight record was "Begin The Beguine," after which Pastor left the Shaw group and signed with Vincent Lopez.

From the very start the Pastor band proved a great favorite with dancers, because Tony adopted a policy of playing the kind of music the public wanted. In later years he became a TV star, appearing with Perry Como and on CBS-TV's "Bandshow."

Tony features his brother, Stubby Pastor, who is regarded as one of the nation's foremost trumpet players.

Saturday will also mark Hershey Park's twenty-first annual Kiddies' Day and Baby Parade, with babies from the central Pennsylvania area passing before the judges at the Sports Arena at 2 p.m. Free rides and special entertainment for the small fry have also been arranged.

The Harrisburg Moose Band will play free concerts in the park bandshell on Sunday afternoon and evening. Labor Day concerts on Monday will be presented by the Elks Band, of Bethlehem.

BE APPEALED

PITTSBURGH (P)—Two western Pennsylvania newspapers are planning to appeal a photo ban in the Westmoreland County courthouse to the U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

Notice of the appeal was filed yesterday by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and the Greensburg Tribune-Review. It stems from a recent ruling by U.S. District Judge Wallace S. Gouley upholding a ban on picture-taking in the courthouse and its corridors at Greensburg.

The fight started in 1953 at the trial of John Wesley Wable, convicted Pennsylvania Turnpike slayer. The Post-Gazette and the Tribune-Review deliberately violated a Westmoreland County Court order by taking pictures at the Wable trial. Wable since has been executed.

Seven newspapermen were fined $100 each and sentenced to five days in jail for violating the ban. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court threw out the jail sentences but upheld the fines.

Board Authorizes
School Hot Foot

DAYTON, Ohio, (P)—The Kettering school board almost made it legal to give Fairmont High school students a "hot foot."

But Mrs. Dorothy Milby, a board member, caught a typographical error in the clerk's minutes just in time. The official minutes authorized a vending company to "provide a hot foot by vending machines as needed at the new Fairmont High School." Mrs. Milby said: "We intend to provide hot food."

WHITE SOX AND YANKEES SEEK HURLER MAGLIE

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, striving to strengthen their injury-riddled pitching staff for the stretch drive, may be balked a second time in an effort to obtain Brooklyn's Sal (The Barber) Maglie, one time ace of the National League.

In 1955 the Cleveland Indians refused to pass on the 40-year-old righthander when he was placed on the waiver list by the New York Giants after plying the National League club to the 1951 and '54 championships.

This time it is the Chicago White Sox, who trail the Yankees by 5½ games after losing last night's 5-4 standing in the road of the American League champions.

Chuck Comiskey, vice president of the White Sox, said they claimed Maglie the first time he was placed on the waiver list but that the Dodgers withdrew him.

Bargains For Maglie

"This time, we let him go through and will bargain for him," Comiskey said.

The Yankees also waived on the Barber the second time around, thus setting up a battle of dollars.

Under the waiver clause, all clubs in the National League first must waive on Maglie, who is said to be receiving $30,000 for pitching this year. Then all American League clubs, starting the last place Senators, also must waive. A club is permitted to withdraw a player's name only once.

"We have made a substantial offer for Maglie and also Virgil Trucks of Kansas City," said Comiskey.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said he had no knowledge of the efforts to obtain Maglie. There was no comment from other club officials.

Beyond admitting that the Dodgers had asked waivers on Maglie, the Dodgers would admit nothing.

"I'm not peddling him," said vice president Buzzy Bavasi. He did admit, however, that another American League club, presumably the White Sox, was interested.

Norristown May Get P. O. S. A. Convention

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—The 1958 convention of the Pennsylvania Patriotic Order, Sons of America, will be held in Montgomery County, probably in Norristown.

The county was selected yesterday at the closing session of this year's convention.

H. Taylor Pugh of Norristown was elected president succeeding John A. Arner of West Milton. In the only office contested, David Bair, Hanover, defeated Richard Felzer of Philadelphia, for state guard.

Other new officers: Linwood E. Root, Reading, vice president; Earl H. Tennis, Catawissa, master of forms; William C. Beck, Philadelphia, conductor; and David C. Myers, Lock Haven, inspector.

The organization adopted a resolution supporting local efforts to aid schools so that federal appropriations are not necessary.

Team captain Ned Oldham, leading Navy ground gainer for the past two seasons, leads the list of 16 returning lettermen who will be battling this year for assignments in the Navy lineup.

posed that each country pledge "not to transfer out of its control any nuclear weapons or to accept transfer" of such weapons except for purposes of self-defense.

5. Testing of nuclear weapons would be suspended for 12 months, with a renewal of 12 months—a adequate inspection systems are total of two years—provided that set up and that satisfactory progress is made under the agreement toward halting all atomic production for weapons.

6. Rockets capable of soaring above the earth's atmosphere into outer space would be brought under control with a provision stating:

"All parties to the convention agree that within three months after the entry into effect of the convention they will cooperate in the establishment of a technical committee to study the design of an inspection system which would make it possible to assure that the sending of objects through outer space will be exclusively for peaceful and scientific purposes."

7. Provisions would be made to cut the danger of surprise attack by setting up inspection zones, with aerial and ground inspection systems, covering vast areas of western and soviet bloc territory. The details had previously been spelled out by Secretary of State Dulles in a proposal in London Aug. 2. The Soviets have already rejected the plan in part and taken the position that they disliked the whole idea.

8. All the pledges for arms cut-backs and measures to end the atomic race, according to the Western proposal, would be meaningless unless there was also full agreement on the "operation of an effective international control and inspection system."

The proposal calls for an international control organization and for various types of inspection machinery and would commit the participating countries to cooperate "freely" with the inspectors to make certain that the disarmament pledges were honored.

Like the U. N. Security Council, under which it would operate, the control organization would have an executive board in which powers—presently unspecified—would have a veto right on "important decisions."

9. The board of control would be empowered to study ways of regulating armament exports and imports.

10. Any country could withdraw from the treaty by giving written notice if there was a major violation by some other country or if another country impaired the effectiveness of the disarmament system in some way.

11. Russia was told that it would have to negotiate on the Western proposals as parts of a single plan and could not accept any one of them apart from the others.

Committee Of 16 Educators Found Much At GHS To Commend In 1954 Survey

Many Recommendations Made For Ways To Improve 14 Departments Of Instruction At Local School

(Second Of A Series)

After making general recommendations for a more expanded curriculum in Gettysburg High School, the Committee of 16 educators that evaluated the local high school in the spring of 1954 devoted fully half of its final written report to individual appraisals of the curriculum, program, needs and strength of 14 departments of instruction at the school.

Every one of the 14 departments drew some praise as specific grounds for commendation were cited and every department was given a list of recommendations — usually a longer list — to be followed as a means of improving the net result of the work of each department.

The departments studied singly and given a specific section of the final 17-page report made public this month after a lapse of more than three years include: Agriculture, Art, Business Education, English, Foreign Languages, Health and Safety Education, Home Economics, Industrial Arts, Mathematics, Music, Physical Education for Boys, Physical Education for Girls, Science and Social Sciences.

Some Already Accomplished

As was the case in the initial general observations made in the report and covered in the first of this series which appeared in The Gettysburg Times August 22, some recommendations made by the evaluating committee already are accomplished facts. Others are not.

Copies of the report of the Committee of 16 educators headed by Chairman Richard K. Smith, principal of the Springfield Township High School in Delaware County, were distributed to the school boards of the Gettysburg Joint School System at their August meeting.

Keeping in mind their general recommendations for an expanded curriculum, an enrichment of the offerings, a greater choice of electives and the need for a study of the possibility for more courses organized with an opportunity for increased pupil planning and participation, the Committee of 16 had these findings to report on the 14 departments of instruction at the school:

Agriculture Department

The committee commended the "well-staffed and well-organized department of Vocational Agriculture" as follows: "For the manner by which the instruction is planned cooperatively by both teachers and is based upon the needs of the students; for the excellent farm mechanics shop and classroom; for the well prepared and highly experienced teachers; for the excellent instructional methods used; for the generally good work being done by the boys; for the high classes for students not taking Business typing so that two sets of standards within the same class will not be necessary."

English

The committee had eight recommendations to make in the operation of the English department but first took time to commend the department for the academic and professional preparation of the staff as excellent; the apparent satisfactory preparation of the students to serve the fields into which they subsequently enter; the pleasantly informal social atmosphere of the classes; the excellent exhibits prepared by the students which indicate a close relationship between the class work and the pupil creative activity, and for the use of the school assembly program to correlate the work of the classroom with student appreciation of literature.

What They Recommended

The recommendations for the English department were stated this way:

That more extensive use be made of evaluative material in planning courses; reduced pupil load to provide for more individualized instruction and student committee activities; an attempt to meet the interested student with elective courses such as journalism, dramatics, creative writing and advanced literature; more provision for work with speech defects and reading disabilities; improved physical facilities, storage space, shelves, special room, darkening shades, exhibit cases, better lighting and filling cabinets; additional instructional aids such as maps, graphs and other visual aids; the encouragement of teachers to read more professional books and magazines and provision of opportunity for teachers to visit other schools and to attend professional meetings on school time.

In the Foreign language department the recommendation was made that the interests and needs of the pupils be explored to determine the desirability of offering more advanced language courses. It was also recommended that more equipment and audio-visual aids be secured to help in the instruction.

At the same time the Committee commended the department for the "breadth and variety of its program considering the size of the school." It commended the background, training and experience of the staff, noted "the enthusiasm and method in which the subjects are taught and the favorable reaction of the students to the teachers." The department also drew praise for "the wise choice and proper use of textbooks."

Health and Safety Education

The Committee commended the school for providing a program of driver education and a full-time instructor to carry out the program, for the cooperation existing between the teaching staff and the school nurse and for the close cooperation between the parents and the school nurse.

The committee recommended an even more closely coordinated health and safety program. The nurse, members of the physical education staff and the instructors of health and safety should plan the program cooperatively, the committee felt.

Home Economics

The top recommendation in the Committee's report on the Home Economics department — that "a teacher be added to the staff as contemplated" — was accomplished in the 1956-57 term when three full-time teachers served the department for the first time. The other recommendations for that department follow:

"That there be continued effort to expand the junior high program to include a wide variety of instructional units, utilizing the centers provided in the new equipment; that a further study be made of needs and interests of senior high school girls as a basis for determining the nature of the learning experiences for the one-year course in 'general' home economics; that consideration be given to a possible interchange of learning experiences, such as 'home repairs' for girls and home living activities for boys, in the junior high school level.

Classes For Boys Proposed

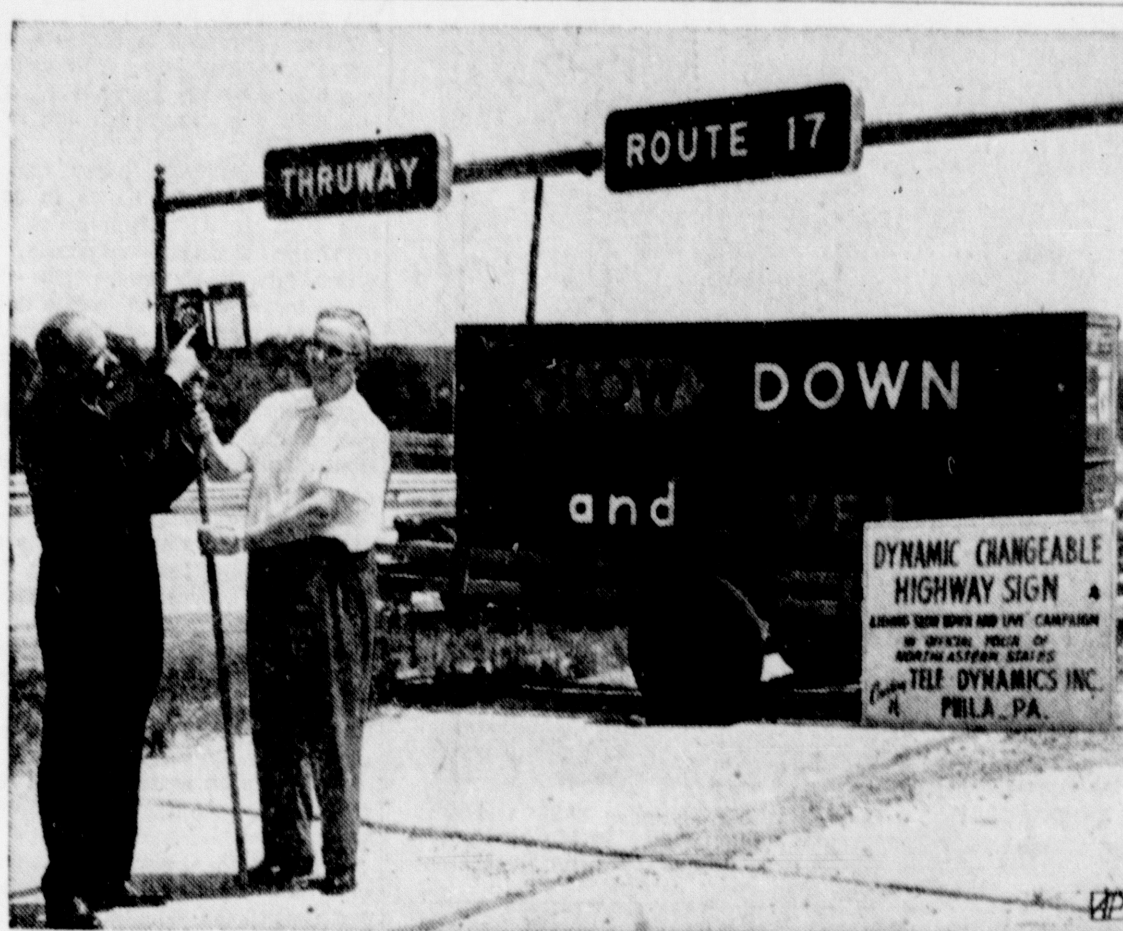

"That consideration be given to possible opportunities for home economics for boys in the senior high school; and that the program throughout continue to place emphasis upon the goal of improving personal and family living and that the various competencies developed through the instructional units contribute toward this end."

The department drew one of the longest lists of commendations given any department of the school. The list of favorable observations by the Committee follows:

Many Commendations

"For the forward looking plan for space expansion and the extensive improvement of equipment for homemaking education; for the resourcefulness with which members of the teaching staff have utilized the present inadequate facilities; for the opportunity provided for all junior high school girls to participate in aspects of home economic activities; for a well-functioning program of 'Vocational' home economics on the senior high level.

"For the introduction of a one-year course in 'general' home economics to provide learning experiences for a greater number of students; for the use of a variety

CONGRESS READY TO O. K. AID BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—An adjournment-bent Congress was set to pass finally today a $3,435,810,000 money bill to pay for military and economic aid to friendly nations around the globe.

The compromise bill, including $2,768,760,000 in new funds and $667,050,000 in re-appropriated funds from previous years, was agreed upon by Senate and House conferees yesterday.

The compromise figure is 244 of learning material including audio-visual aids; for the efforts being made to experiment with modern instructional methods and for the excellent relationship existing between teachers and pupils and between teachers within the department."

The Committee appraisal of the seven other departments of instruction at the high school will be the subject of the next article in this series.

million dollars more than the House originally voted and $256,900,000 below the Senate amount. The last of the year's appropriations bills, it represents a slash of $1,004,400,000 from President Eisenhower's original foreign aid request in January.

Barring a hitch, the House planned to act first on the compromise. Senate approval was expected later in the day.

Civil Rights Next

This would send the measure to Eisenhower by nightfall and clear the way for adjournment after the Senate acts on the civil rights bill.

The compromise aid bill contains 300 million dollars to start a new economic development loan fund on which Eisenhower has centered his "new approach" to economic aid. This approach is designed to put greater emphasis on loans instead of grants.

The Senate voted 400 millions for the fund's first year operations, but the House conferees refused yesterday to budge from the House figure of 300 millions.

The House conferees did agree to approve $1,340,000,000 in new military aid funds. The House

ASKS CHURCHES TO CARRY WORK

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham says he wants the churches of New York to carry on in the spirit of his crusade after he leaves the city Sunday night.

The evangelist, speaking before a capacity crowd of 19,200 at Madison Square Garden last night, pleaded for a "spiritual awakening and revival" in every church in the city.

The Rev. Dan Potter, executive secretary of the Protestant Council of Churches of the City of New York, appeared on the rostrum and expressed appreciation to Graham for his campaign.

At the end of Graham's sermon, originally voted $1,250,000,000 for this purpose. The Senate approved approved re-appropriation of $538,000,000 in unspent military funds, the administration will have $1,878,800,000 available this year for arms aid.

HAVANA RIVALS MIAMI FASHIONS

HAVANA (AP)—The vivid color and flamboyance of Latin-American fashions may soon be more evident in the United States.

Cuban dress designers are out to capture a big share of the American market and are building up an impressive export line.

That's the word from Murray Corwin, vice president of a top Cuban fashion producing concern who expects to have a big export sale in the United States next season.

Needs Cooperation

"Havana," Corwin said, "could become a more important fashion center than Miami if we have the proper cooperation from the government and the manufacturers."

He said it was "too expensive" for Cuban dress manufacturers to import suitable dress material for dress-making and then re-export it in finished dress form. Corwin exported dresses until last December and since then has had them made under contract by a Miami dressmaking concern.

He firmly believes that Havana could have a fashion mart building where dress manufacturers and allied garment makers (shoes, hats, hosiery, bathing suits) could display their production for the benefit of buyers from all over the Western Hemisphere.

"Such a project would require the combined aid and cooperation of the government and the dress manufacturers, but principally that of the former," Corwin asserted.

BLITHE SPIRITS

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—From the smell of things you'd think the boys were having a high old time at City Hall. That's because the disposal point for moonshine whiskey is the men's washroom in the basement. When the condemned liquor goes down the drain the aroma wafts up to paint the premises with a genuine barroom atmosphere.

which assailed "pride, selfishness, idolatry and worldliness." 731 persons went forward to make "decisions for Christ." The total of decisions since the crusade started May 15 stands at 53,207. Total attendance is reported as 1,741,600.

IRISH TOURISM WILL INTEREST ANY TRAVELER

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
The Associated Press

DUBLIN, Ireland—When the first big wave of American tourists sweeps into Ireland this summer, they are sure to be accorded a warmer reception than the mainstream of Irish tourist received at our shores 100 years ago.

No one will try to sell them O'Connell Bridge, Nelson's Pillar or a half interest in a Wicklow shillelagh factory. No one will return the old Tammany greeting of a century ago by asking them to join Fianna Fail or the L. R. A. or present a letter from Lord Mayor Briscoe to get a lodging for the night.

And, unless they go round recklessly humming "My Country 'Tis of Thee," which has the same tune as the British national anthem, "God Save Our Noble Queen," they can stay for days, months, even years without having their skulls creased by an aforementioned shillelagh, which weapon, sad to say, has become exceedingly rare.

Tourist Trade

So rare, in fact, it is now made only for the tourist trade, not for hand to hand combat.

The plain fact of the matter is that Americans are popular in Ireland, perhaps more genuinely popular than anywhere else in Europe or the rest of the world. They speak almost the same language, dress in a reasonably similar fashion—sports shirts, sun glasses and cameras excepted—and have a common interest in such twined pastimes as hunting, fishing and horseracing.

Because of our two successful donnybrooks with England in the early days of the Republic, the Irish tend to look upon us as brothers under the skin, co-revolutionaries in the same grand and glorious cause.

Geographical ties, in many cases, are even closer. The Irish can be pardoned if they sometimes look upon the United States as a thriving suburb of Dublin. Two centuries of emigration have resulted in our having more people of Irish descent than Ireland itself. You'll travel a good many miles before encountering someone who does not have a brother or a nephew or a cousin in New York, Boston, Philadelphia or any of dozens of other cities from Maine to California where the Irish settled in large numbers.

"Ah, so you're from Boston," you are liable to be asked. "Then you must 'know Tim Flaherty's boy, Cornelius. A grand lad. Left here 35 years ago. They say he's a big man out there. In the drayman's business, so I'm told."

If you should, by any chance, happen to know Cornelius, all Ireland will be at your feet, like a huge green carpet of welcome.

Japanese Family Gets $1,200 In Plane Crash

MITO, Japan (AP)—The Mito Procurement Board Wednesday announced the United States and Japan will pay about $1,200 compensation to the family of a Japanese woman killed early this month by an American plane.

Lt. John L. Gordon of Erie, Pa., whose L20 liaison plane struck and killed Mrs. Haru Hojo, 63, as he was taking off, was not indicted by the Mito prosecutors. The district office ruled a week ago that he was "performing an official duty."

The United States pays 75 per cent of such compensation for accidents involving U. S. forces in Japan. The Japanese government pays the rest.

Democrats Claim Wisconsin Victory Is Blow Against Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic party headquarters Wednesday called the outcome of the Wisconsin election a crushing repudiation of President Eisenhower and his administration. Republicans from the White House down conceded their party had taken a bad licking.

Eisenhower himself was described by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, as disappointed and feeling that the GOP "took a bad licking."

Hagerty, who is one of Eisenhower's chief political advisers, was asked whether the White House regarded the election results as a repudiation of the President's farm and fiscal policies. "The only honest answer I can make is that I don't know," Hagerty said.

He said he saw no point in holding "a post-mortem" on the election, and added:

Look To Next Year
"There will be another election next year."

Yesterday's election sent William Proxmire, campaigning as a liberal Democrat, to the Senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, Republican. Next year there will be another election for a regular six-year Senate term beginning in January, 1959.

There was no question but that Proxmire's smashing victory over former Gov. Walter J. Kohler Jr., the Republican candidate, was something of a shock all around in capital political circles.

Democrats had held high hopes that Proxmire might win the seat but had not anticipated his overwhelming margin of more than 120,000 votes.

PAUL STALEY

Paul Butler, the Democratic national chairman, got out a statement calling the outcome "a clear indication of a sweeping Democratic victory in the 1958 election."

"It demonstrates," Butler said, "that the average American voter is fed up with the lack of constructive presidential leadership and the increasing favoritism of special interests which have become the hallmark of so-called modern Republicanism."

"The issues were clear cut in Wisconsin. Gov. Kohler attached himself firmly to the Eisenhower coat tail. Thus he made his defeat a crushing repudiation of the President and his administration."

"The Wisconsin vote showed that the people are in revolt against the hardships and injus-ices which are mounting daily for the average family under this Republican administration."

Meade Alcorn, Republican national chairman, summed it up this way in a statement:

"The plain fact is that we got licked Tuesday in Wisconsin—and licked badly. There is a grim lesson in what happened and it is simply this:

"The Republican party has a tough fight on its hands in 1958 and 1960. If we Republicans are to shape victories—nationally, in Wisconsin or anywhere else—we must forge a united party dedicated to the defeat of the leftwing forces which dominate the Democratic party."

Hagerty was obviously anticipating questions about the election when he met with reporters at the White House.

President Is Disappointed
Asked for comment, Hagerty replied that he had discussed the Wisconsin outcome with Eisenhower.

"Of course, he (the President) is disappointed that Walter Kohler was not elected to represent the people of Wisconsin in the Senate," Hagerty went on.

"There is no hiding the fact that we took a bad licking in Wisconsin," Hagerty said.

Replying to a question, Hagerty said he meant the Republican party when he said "we."

Asked then whether he was expressing the views of the President in saying that the party took a bad licking, Hagerty replied: "Yes, I would think so."

After the questioning then as to what the outcome might mean as to voter views on Eisenhower's policies, Hagerty pulled out figures showing that Eisenhower's plurality in Wisconsin in 1952 was 357,569, and in 1956 was 368,076.

M'CUNE URGES LESS CONTROLS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Federal government imposes too many restraints and controls in granting financial assistance to communities, says the president of the Pennsylvania Assn. of County Commissioners.

Samuel M. McCune, a Beaver County commissioner, suggested that the state take over some of the programs now handled by the federal government to eliminate controls.

Speaking at a session Tuesday of the association's 71st annual convention, McCune said:

"If the state would assume responsibility in whole or in part for many programs and projects now handled on the federal level, the states, in my opinion, would be able to render the taxpayers more and better service for less money.

"If this premise would hold true between federal and state government, it must stand to reason that it would hold true between the state and county government."

Orrtanna

ORRTANNA — Mr. and Mrs. John Diehl, Orrtanna-Fairfield Rd., have returned from a 24-day trip to the West Coast. The points of interest they visited were: Calumet Farms, Lexington, Ky.; Wichita Mountains, Wildlife Refuge, Oklahoma; Carlsbad Caverns and White Sands National Monument, New Mexico; Grand Canyon and Hoover Dam in Arizona; Yosemite National Park and Redwood Forests in California; Crater Lake National Park in Oregon; Yellowstone and Teton National Parks in Wyoming; Custer State and Wind Cav. National Park in the Black Hills of South Dakota. They also visited relatives in Kentucky, Arizona and Illinois, traveling 7,800 miles in visiting 20 states.

The name of Nicholas Donaldson, Gary, Ind., was missed among those who attended the Donaldson family reunion at the S. C. Donaldson home August 18. Mr. and Mrs. William Donaldson are from Hagerstown instead of Gary, Ind., as was previously announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rich and children, Mary Alice and Maggie Jo, returned to Pittsburgh Friday after spending a vacation with Mrs. Margaret Shindedecker and son, Peter, mother and brother of Mrs. Rich.

GSA MEETING OPEN TO PRESS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority opened its meeting to newspapers Wednesday. The curtain of secrecy—associated with GSA sessions since the agency was created in 1957—is being stripped away three days in advance of the effective date of the "open meetings" law.

The 1957 Legislature enacted a measure which specifically mentioned the GSA as an agency whose proceedings must be opened to the public.

The 12-member agency—now divided between six Republicans and six Democrats—plans a closed executive session in the morning to be followed by the open meeting in the afternoon.

Under the new law official action can be taken only at open meetings. Fifty million dollars in construction projects recommended by the GSA's priority committee occupies the bulk of the agency's agenda.

Prisoner Discovers Charity's Problems

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — When a prisoner was released from jail here a friend he had made among the inmates asked him to make a long distance telephone call asking for money to pay a fine. The released prisoner did. The money came. The released prisoner tried to collect. The telephone company questioned his identity. The released prisoner became angry, was arrested for being disorderly and using loud and profane language.

News Briefs

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two or three days of soaking rain are still needed to aid crops seriously damaged by the recent eight-week dry spell. The weekly crop-weather summary issued yesterday emphasized an earlier view that Sunday's rains meant added growth in late vegetable and fruit crops and early planted corn but did not solve the problem entirely.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Reading Railroad had a net income of $482,000 in July, equal to 18 cents a common share, compared with $361,000, or 9 cents a share, in the same month of 1956, the company reported yesterday. At that time last year a steel strike was on.

The Reading said its net income for the first seven months of this year was $6,305,000, or $3.34 a share, compared with $5,886,000, or $3.04 a common share, in the corresponding period last year.

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP) — County Detective Ray D. Marshall and state police destroyed 122 slot machines Tuesday by order of the Northumberland County Court. The machines were seized during raids over the last two years. The officials estimated they were worth $40,000.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Earl W. Swartz, fire chief in Harrisburg for 22 years, is retiring. He told City Council Tuesday he is requesting a pension because of his inability to continue as chief of the fire bureau. Since 1955, when Swartz suffered a paralytic stroke, William C. McBride, assistant chief, has been acting chief. Swartz receives $5,047 a year and is eligible for a half-pay pension.

Milk Drinkers Try To Halt Coffee Break

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Two officials proposed that Milwaukee stamp out the coffee break, contending the practice by county employees is costing the taxpayers one million dollars a year.

The curb was asked by Anthony Romano, of the Civil Service Commission, and C. Stanley Perry, corporation counsel. They said they drank milk.

N. Y. SHOWS SMASH HITS TO HI-FI FANS

By HUGH MULLIGAN The Associated Press

The record industry didn't keep the public waiting long for the parlor version of "Waiting For Godot."

Columbia wrapped up the rights to Samuel Beckett's inscrutable play about a pair of tramps exchanging philosophical banter on a park bench almost before Broadway drama critics had a chance to ask each other what it was all about.

Now, through the medium of hi-fi, home audiences can ask the still unanswered question over and over again of Bert Lahr and other members of the excellent cast.

Columbia's Godot venture demonstrates the faith major recording companies have in the sales potential of original Broadway cast and film soundtrack albums, a faith based on happy past experience.

"South Pacific," the ever enchanting evening with Rogers and Hammerstein, still leads the list of all time album best sellers, but "My Fair Lady," the current Broadway sensation, bids fair to win out eventually.

Significantly, the Julie Andrews-Rex Harrison musical became a recording hit throughout the country immediately upon release, a certain indication that its success is not due to people who have seen the play or to people who have seen people who have seen the play. The same can be said of "The Most Happy Fella."

Movie music has done almost as well. "The Benny Goodman Story" (Decca), "The King and I" (Capitol) and "The Eddy Duchin Story" (Decca) were among the 25 best selling albums of 1956 and continue strong.

Are are companies worried about getting stuck with a flop or a "limited run" play?

Apparently not. Many contracts are made while a play is in rehearsal and sometimes while it is in the author's mind. Columbia's "Candide" is still a best seller, although the Leonard Bernstein musical has folded its garish tent on Broadway, and RAC came up with a winner in Siobhan McKenna's short term run of Shaw's "St. Joan." About the same time, Angel Records got into the act by releasing Miss McKenna's stand-out recordings of Sygne's "Playboy of the Western World" and O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock." Sammy Davis Jr., as "Mr. Wonderful," defied mixed reviews to become both a Broadway and a record success.

Even routine musicals like "Happy Hunting," "Bells are Ringing," and "L'il Abner," while not great theater, enjoy continued popularity at the record counter.

Collecting play records, like play bills, is becoming something of a national hobby, one that should have a healthy effect on the future of the stage.

ATLANTA WIFE HAS RIGHT TIME ALL DAY LONG

ATLANTA (AP) — Some folks wouldn't give you the time of day. Not Mary Moore.

This pert Atlanta housewife is on call around the clock in hundreds of cities to provide up-to-the-minute information.

She's the voice behind the time-of-day service. She's as near as your telephone from Boston to the Bahamas, from Saskatoon to Corpus Christi.

Has Many Roles

Mrs. Berrien L. Moore Jr. is an attractive and personable wife and mother in person. To the inquiring public, she's a pleasing voice on a sound track—with no regional accent. This voice, heard as often as that of many a radio or TV star, is projected by the wires and tubes and cylinders and flashing lights of a fascinating machine leased from the Audichron Co.

In 300 cities daily, more than 3 million people call the most popular number in town to hear a brief six-second advertising or public service message followed by the correct time.

Mrs. Moore, who has been recording for the firm for more than 10 years, won the job over strong competition. The native Atlantan talks in a clear, pleasant voice. Recording sessions are held about every two weeks and usually last about 15 minutes.

Not All Times

She doesn't have to record all conceivable times of day. She must read only the hours 1 through 12 and the minutes 1 through 59 and the sponsor's message. Engineers combine these recordings on a film sound track that later moves minute by minute in perfect synchronization with local time.

Mrs. Moore is the mother of three children, a boy 15 and two girls 12 and 9. Her husband is manager of an auto finance firm.

The "voice of the clock" has a 30-minute, 5-day a week, Atlanta television program and does free lance commercial TV work. Prior to television, she worked in radio for several years.

Time Machine

The time machine was invented by John L. Franklin, a big affable Atlanta man who put in the first automatic time of day telephone service in 1933.

Telephone engineers who monitor the equipment just to make sure it's working properly estimate that about half the callers say "thank you." But the velvety voice never answers back and you can't get her into a conversation.

Now and then some lonesome drunk during the late hours tries to make a date. But it's frustrating when all the lady will say is "The time is 1158 . . . (pause). The time is 1159 . . ."

Zebras, marching in file across the Africa veldt, are seldom heard. But, they are not quiet. They make a sort of "quang Quag" sound resembling a slight cough.

PAIR UNEARTH'S ANCIENT SPOON

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP) — The Earl Gilberts started out to excavate around some trees on their property here and wound up digging into history.

While digging around the base of the one tree, the Gilberts unearthed an article which at first appeared to be a crude child's toy. On picking it up, the weight was so noticeable they stopped excavating and began to polishing their find.

It turned out to be a bright silver-finished spoon.

Realizing the spoon might have some bearing on the history of Woodward, the Gilberts began gathering information on silver. They found their spoon corresponded with silversmith's designs for 1650 tableware. They also found that although it had corroded, the actual workmanship and early day beauty had not been marred.

Texas Students Have Identity Problems

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Joe Allen Bailey, Ozona, Tex., and Joe Allen Bailey, Amarillo, Tex., are students at the University of Texas.

Both are hi-fi fans and electronics experts.

They spend considerable time giving each other electrical equipment shipped to the wrong address.

The Gilberts say the spoon is a perfect 1650 flat-bowled silver spoon. The long handle, slightly tapered to a beveled end on the front, is believed to be an example of one of the early American antiques. Not until 1790, the Gilberts say, did spoons become thinner with more shapely handles.

ROCKING CHAIR WOMAN RIVALS WHISTLER MOM

By W. G. ROGERS
NEW YORK (AP) — "Now look at that!" exclaimed the young man, his eyes practically popping out of his head.

It was at the Museum of Modern Art's monster Picasso show, which daily draws monster crowds. The fellow was talking to his girl, and to a small laughing crowd gathered around him. He waved a hand to trace the lines, cocked his head like any knowing connoisseur, and cried:

"Whew, what symbolism!"

What Symbolism!
He was looking at a hole in the wall. Covered by a small barred door and containing a red fire extinguisher, it was a foot square and stood at the height of a picture.

He really didn't mean it—though Picasso with his master's touch could have made it a Picasso. But a few of the spectators really scoffed at the show proper:

Name Draws
"If a kid did it, who'd come, but he has only to sign his name!" exclaimed a woman whipping away in disgust.

"I can't believe it!" a man complained, wondering what the world was coming to.

But the museum people heard the jingle of cash in the registers as the double line of men, women and children poured in to view one of the most thrilling shows in years.

If Picasso isn't the greatest artistic genius of the century, he is certainly the most spectacular. Maybe he is also the most valuable.

Supplementing the usual force of attendants, there were the blue-uniformed operatives of a private detective agency, pistol in holster, patrolling the jammed halls.

First armed guards that this gallery-goer ever saw threatening to turn an art gallery into a shooting gallery were in the some museum in 1932 for "American Painting and Sculpture." Lead item in that collection was "The Artist's Mother," Whistler's masterpiece, now in the Metropolitan but borrowed then from Paris. That picture alone traveled coast to coast to be seen by 2,000,000 people. Ropes kept the crowds away, and two guards were on constant duty.

Seated Woman
That was a seated woman. There's a "Seated Woman" painting in 1946 in the Picasso show, and a "Woman in Rocking Chair," painted only last year.

Picasso is not quite as popular as Whistler, and neither is he as popular as Van Gogh. Incomplete attendance figures suggest. Highest attendance for a single day at the Van Gogh show in 1935 was 5,969; highest for the 1939 Picasso show, 4,694; highest for the current show, 5,017. With attendance running at twice the normal rate, perhaps 250,000 people will have seen Picasso by September closing time. The show will go later to Chicago and Philadelphia.

Assembled by Alfred H. Barr, Jr., the exhibition tells admirably the whole Picasso story. It attracts a polyglot crowd, Spaniards from Picasso's native land, and French from his adopted country, the well-to-do, the impecunious, the camera fans.

One youngster was busy with a sketch. Another gawking at the "Guernica" said, "There's a bull" and added: "Something's happening to the horse." But it was a bronze that stymied him, and that was hardly Picasso's fault. After reading the title, he asked his father: "What does 'Pregnant Woman' mean?"

LEADER SNUBS MAHANY PLEA

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader refused to meet Wednesday with Republican leaders who are protesting a Welfare Department order that evicts all but key personnel from dwellings at state mental institutions.

The governor Tuesday informed Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader, that he would be unable to meet with GOP leaders because of a crowded schedule. Leader referred Mahany, who had requested the meeting in a handwritten letter, to Harry Shapiro, head of the Welfare Department, who issued the order.

In Leader's reply to Mahany, released by his office, he said GOP leaders devoted themselves to "a calculated campaign of misrepresentation and distortion" intended to hurt the mental health program. He accused the Republican legislature of trying "to cut the heart" from the program and added it "succeeded in damaging it gravely."

Mahany's request said that Shapiro was trying to sabotage the mental health system with the eviction order. He termed it ridiculous and foolhardy.

KIDNAP-KILLER LEAVES PRISON

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — August (The Crank) Pascal, nearly blind and suffering from cancer, was released Wednesday from Eastern State Penitentiary.

The 73-year-old Pascal was given a life sentence on Nov. 20, 1920, in Montgomery County Court at Norristown for the kidnap-murder of Blakely Coughlin, a 13-month-old child.

A prison chaplain drove him to the Home for the Aged conducted by the Little Sisters of the Poor in West Philadelphia, which will be his home for his remaining years.

Gov. Leader commuted Pascal's life sentence last month following favorable recommendation in June by the State Pardons Board of Pascal's seventh appeal for release.

The elderly prisoner based his plea for commutation on the fact that he was critically ill and wished to die outside the prison.

you're exhausted — but look before you sleep.
This man didn't. He broke a pane of glass in a rear door, paused long enough to shed his topcoat and shoes, then turned down the spread and jumped in.

It was one of the most unusual window displays ever seen at the Wheeler Furniture Co. Police arrived an hour later and escorted the man to a less comfortable bed in jail.

After promising to replace the glass in the store's rear door, Candy cooked parsnips the way you would candy sweet potatoes if you want them to be popular!

Opinion Survey Reveals That Most Countians Are Satisfied Hospital Is "Well Managed"

Reporting for the third time on the results of the Annie M. Warner Hospital's survey of public opinion, Wilbur A. Bankert, president of the hospital's board of directors, said today that more than 40 per cent of the replies contained voluntary comments.

"It is gratifying to know," Bankert said that the response to the question "From what you know or have heard, do you think the hospital is managed efficiently?" received a 90 per cent "yes."

"However," he continued, "examples such as the following reflect many shades of opinions."

"I have just been discharged from the hospital. The only thing that I could truthfully say about the Annie M. Warner Hospital is this, that the doctors and nurses, and every one connected with the hospital could not have treated me better, had I been a millionaire. Thank God we have an Annie M. Warner Hospital to go to, when we need it. And as to the food, I found it well cooked, tastily prepared and served as well as if you were in a hotel. It gives me great pleasure to tell you this. Incidentally this was my first trip to a hospital and it was quite different from what I was expecting."

Nurses Are Nice
"In my stay at the hospital, I found most of the nurses very, very nice and I received very good care. The only complaint I had was the food. The board of directors of the hospital should try eating it sometime."

Can't Beat Services
"Every member of our family has been a patient at the Annie Warner Hospital for either sickness or injury and at all times the doctors and nurses were wonderful. For its size its services cannot be beaten. Personally I have no complaints but some I have heard are that the office force could use more tact in admitting patients and that food and conditions in the kitchen set up could be better."

"The biggest complaint that I hear is that the treatment upon entering is what has most people disturbed."

"I have been a patient at the Annie M. Warner Hospital many, many times. Have found good food, care, cleanliness, and have been a well satisfied and happy patient. Best wishes to a well-organized hospital and to the board of directors."

"A better children's Dept., such as better quarters, supervisory, etc. Personnel is wonderful but a trifle short handed which I suppose is normal at a hospital."

"Courtesy to patients and those seeking information about bills and hospital services needs to be improved very much at your hospital. A smile and courteous treatment will do much towards a better public relations. You need the public and the public needs you."

"I think the big part of the fixed overhead of the hospital should be carried by the doctors that use the hospital for their business place. I

RAIN DRENCHES MARCHING UNITS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Cpl. Frederick C. Reilly Post of Philadelphia early today won the senior drum and bugle corps competition in a drenching rain at the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention.

The Chicago Cavaliers of Harmony Post, Chicago, won the junior drum and bugle contest over six rivals.

A crowd of 5,000 watched the units parade over a rain drenched field. Showers played havoc with uniforms and drums.

State Unit Wins
The St. Vincent's Cadets, defending junior champions from the Joyce-Herbert Post of Bayonne, N.J., had to borrow drums to finish. They placed second.

Senior finishers behind the Reilly Post were Lt. Norman Prince Post of Boston, Archer Epler Post of Upper Darby, Pa., Westshoremen Post of Wormleysburg, Pa., and Miami Beach.

AILING WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa. (AP) — The Wyoming County district attorney says a murder charge will be lodged against 32-year-old Mrs.

am in business and I have to pay the overhead from my income to run my business and why should a doctor be any different."

Norma Meeker for the fatal shooting yesterday of her husband, Paul, 33.

The official, Roy A. Gardner, said Mrs. Meeker had made a statement and on the basis of it and other findings the charge would be made. The woman was taken after the incident to Tyler Memorial Hospital in nearby Meshoppen for treatment of a heart ailment.

Gardner said further questioning of Mrs. Meeker will be resumed when her condition permits it.

Dr. L. M. Saldman, first on the scene, told state police Meeker died of a bullet wound in the heart. He said Mrs. Meeker told him she fired the shot in the course of a quarrel. The couple lived on a farm, seven miles south of here.

SEEK PRIORITY FOR ASIAN FLU VACCINE DOSES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's state health officers have recommended that Asian flu vaccine be administered on a priority basis to assure maintenance of essential community services in event of epidemics.

The Assn. of State and Territorial Health Officers of the United States asked the U.S. surgeon general yesterday to recommend that physicians give priority to three groups:

(1) Doctors and other medical and health workers, (2) individuals "necessary to maintain other basic community services," and (3) persons with tuberculosis and those with other special medical problems.

The association did not spell out who should be listed in priority group No. 2. It said that group might vary from one locality to another.

Group Would Decide

The health officers suggested that federal, state and local governments establish advisory committees to consider which occupations are necessary to keep community services functioning.

The association ended a two-day conference yesterday, calling on the Public Health Service for a discussion of plans for combating possible widespread outbreaks of the flu this fall and winter.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed yesterday the military services have increased their vaccine order to more than seven million doses to provide two shots per person, compared with the single dose planned for civilians.

The Army surgeon general's office said the military forces "cannot accept the amount of disability that the civilian population can" because the military must be in a state of operational readiness.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney, commenting on the priorities recommendation, agreed that determination of essential individuals would vary from place to place.

If you like wilted cucumbers in a salad, soak the thin peeled slices in salted water for about half an hour, then drain well, pressing down and rinse with cold water.

Add a little tomato catchup and curry powder to a cream sauce for cooked shrimp. Serve over crisp toast.

Dry yeast does not dissolve easily in milk; that's why modern recipes suggest it be sprinkled over warm water.
